Parallel worlds exist. This is the wondrous prediction of quantum mechanics. But what are the enigmatic implications should parallels abruptly, inexplicably coincide...somehow focalize...by an action of Man? How would these hidden worlds be experienced? To what limit should the nature and scope of Man's responsibilities to his own world extend...as well as to those unseen?

Answers are as complex as infinite. Could harnessing colossal energies haphazardly effect disorienting, 'unbounded communication' with other discrete universes? And differentiated through empire-time, could the answers to many of Man's long unanswered mysteries await discovery in other interwoven, near-parallel worlds?

An epic with sixty unique science tutorials challenges contemporary Man's notions of reality, even as his own distant future simultaneously still rockets along an endless journey in search of absolute truth. Might even his exponential leaps toward enlightenment finally reconcile faith with reason...and answer his ultimate questions, which ask 'what is existence...how and why are we here?'
